Recent changes, including the elections, appointment of a new SEC secretary, and various legislative reforms, have ushered in a new era for cryptocurrency, with Stellar playing a pivotal role in shaping future US policy. This development could redefine Stellar's role as a potential reserve currency outside the traditional banking system.

The Big Announcement

Stellar will be playing a crucial role in the new paradigm. Therefore, Stellar Foundation would like to announce the most important strategy shift since the dawn of our project in 2014:

The Open Market Stellar Buyback Program of 2024 - 2025
Under this special Program, XLM will be bought back by Stellar Foundation at a higher market price in order to replenish our reserve for the incoming US policy shift. The currently settled fixed price for buying back Stellar is an above-the-market $1.9 per token as of 26-th of December. Payouts are made in both Circle USD (USDC) or Tether USD (USDT). The Program has a reserve amount of 7 Billion USD, representing 30% of Stellar's current treasury.

Eligibility for Stellar's XLM Buyback Program
As we launch the Stellar Buyback Program, we are implementing proactive measures to safeguard our community from potential vulnerabilities that might seek to exploit the excitement surrounding it. Criteria for accepting Buyback requests will be as follows:

1 (one) Buyback allowed per Stellar address minimum address age and amount onchain activity Why Participate in the Buyback Program?

Payments for submitted XLM will be processed instantly. While you can continue to purchase XLM after participating in the Program, you cannot use the Buyback Program more than once. This Program comes as a successor to our highly successful stock Buyback schedule announced at the start of 2024.
